To whom this may concern,

A.S. Contrera sheet metal contractor is a quality contractor and has been performing design building work with us for over 20 years. Their workmanship and professionalism is second to none. A.S. Contrera worked on a recent project for us, called "Oakland, LLC" (located in Detroit / owned by Magna Automotive Group). The full mechanical design system was installed in a timely manner, including two (2) Cambridge direct fire heating systems that are presently heating a 150,000 square foot building, over 30 ft. high, and is giving even temperature and comfort from floor to ceiling. These Cambridge systems perform an adequate heating distribution throughout the entire plant on a 24-hour day operation.

The quality of Cambridge and its performance is state of the art. Cambridge offers the latest technology for heating large warehouses. I would highly recommend this unit to anybody looking to save energy, achieve comfort, and minimize maintenance.

Thank you
